

Siobhan Buckley

Siobhan Buckley is the harp tutor with Music Generation Laois, teaching over 110 harp students each week, in the local primary schools and the Laois Music Centre in Portlaoise. She is also the director of three harp ensembles and a harp orchestra. One of the harp ensembles are excitedly waiting for a trip to Japan where they will get the opportunity to experience a different style of playing. Each year from August to November, Music Generation runs a large scale project for the Harp Orchestra which allows the students to come together and play as part of a large group. Along with directing the harp programme, Siobhan also directs the Music Generation Laois Trad Orchestra.
